8. Why are you interested in joining the EACVI Board (300 words max)?

I have had the privilege to join the EACVI board in 2014, the ESC board in 2020 and many committees and Task Forces and to have the opportunity to meet very interesting and knowledgeable colleagues and staff members of the Heart House that have left a prominent fingerprint in my career. Over the years I have learned how to communicate with professionals from different countries, backgrounds and with different interests, to work as team to make the ESC and the Associations, particularly EACVI, strong Scientific Societies to follow, to fight against cardiovascular disease and promote cardiovascular health. I would emphasize the impact of these activities on my communication skills. Currently, in the era of the digital technologies that allow us to be connected 24/7, communication has become a pivotal skill to strengthen the position of ESC and the Associations. Good communication skills permit to break down (invisible) walls and to help the groups to share their ideas and search for synergies that will make the objectives effective, ensuring equity (i.e. gender, communities) and bringing opportunities to younger generations. Good communication skills permit to move professionals out from the comfort zone and see different perspectives that could impact positively on their own career as well as on the success of the group/Association/Society. Good communication skills permit finding new alliances to make the Association grow, not only in terms of membership, but also in terms of educational and scientific projects eligible to be funded by European funds for research. Current times demand a strong, united Association to be the leaders in cardiovascular multimodality imaging in the fields of Research, Innovation and Education. And that will be my main objective if I am selected as President of the EACVI.
