

Ms. Tamara KRCMAR, Servier Affaires Internationales

Tamara Krcmar graduated in Biochemistry and Pharmacology from the Università degli Studi in Milan. She is currently working at Servier International in Paris as the Director of Medical Communication in the Global Patients and Medical Affairs department, focusing on cardio-metabolic and venous diseases.

With extensive experience in the pharmaceutical industry, Tamara has worked in both marketing and medical roles at the country and headquarters level. Her expertise spans various therapeutic areas, including neuroscience, cardiology, and cardio-metabolic and venous diseases.

In her current role, she is dedicated to establishing projects within the Medical Affairs scope that focus on education and data communication related to multimorbidity and quality of care. Her multicultural background, multilingual abilities, and communication skills have enabled her to build strong connections with experts and stakeholders worldwide.