

Dr. Alexandra Goncalves, BMS

Alexandra Goncalves is the Head of Digital Health at Bristol Meyers Squibb. Prior to joining BMS, she served as Philips' Chief Medical Officer for Precision Diagnosis, leading the clinical, medical and market access teams across several lines of business including MRI, CT, Diagnostic X-Ray, and Ultrasound.

Dr. Goncalves attended medical school in Portugal where she became a cardiology specialist and a professor of medicine, before relocating to the US where she did her postdoctoral work at Brigham and Women's and Harvard Medical School. Dr. Goncalves is an executive leader with an extensive track-record of success, spanning multi-disciplinary research collaborations and business development, from ideation to market release.