

Dear Colleagues!

I present my candidacy for such a high position of EHRA Secretary!

ESC is the largest cardiological society in the world. EHRA, as a branch of the ESC, is no longer a purely European organization, but goes far beyond Europe. The significance of documents and recommendations issued by EHRA are highly valued, referenced and used in the daily practice by physicians around the world. In addition, physicians from Africa, Asia and America are now members of EHRA. At the same time, as far as I know, physicians living outside of Europe have not held high positions on the EHRA board. The European community has created very high standards of quality to which the whole world is oriented. I would like to contribute to increasing the number of highly qualified EHRA members coming from non-European nations. I am sure that my election to this position will provide an impetus to non-European physicians to join and contribute to the EHRA. I understand responsibilities associated with such a position and I am ready to apply all my knowledge and experience to promote EHRA worldwide.

Sincerely,

Ayan Abdrakhmanov, FESC, FEHRA
